Excisions: Excisions Recommended But Not Made

Reasons for excisions:

Three excisions are required to remove depictions of aggressive fellatio and an ejaculation sequence which degrade, dehumanise and demean a woman to a high degree. The distributor declined the recommended excisions, therefore the publication is classified objectionable.

Summary of reasons for classification:

The DVD entitled Contract Girls Gone Gonzo is classified as:
Objectionable.

The DVD is a sexually explicit publication intended for an audience of adult heterosexual men. One scene depicts a man repeatedly holding a woman's head during sexual activity in a manner that restricts her control, and takes the activity beyond her physical capabilities. In conjunction with a contrived ejaculation sequence, the publication degrades, dehumanises and demeans the women participants to a high degree. Excisions were recommended to remove these depictions. The excised version of the publication would be classified objectionable except if the availability of the publication is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 18 years. The distributor of the publication declined the opportunity to make excisions, and therefore the DVD is objectionable.

The classification of this publication interferes with the freedom on expression as set out in section 14 of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990. This decision represents the minimum interference consistent with preventing likely injury to the public good. The decision is, therefore, demonstrably justified in any free and democratic society.
